“Aussie hotels don’t have the world’s most expensive Tim Tams,” we are assured by Robert Davidson, of Petersham (outrageous minibar prices, Column 8, Tuesday). “A group of dancers from Sydney’s Scots on The Rocks visited Tim Tam-deprived Boston last year, and donated Aussie treats to the Pinewoods Camp annual charity auction. Deprived of quality chocolate, the Americans were willing to part with $US50 for a pack of Tim Tams and $US10 a piece for Cherry Ripe bars.”
